devoted opposition to the second item. They insist that the special session must not go into the question itself beyond appointing an investigating committee.

Wright supported Dr. Homer P. Rainey, hit the house when Rep. Preston Mangum of Dallas asked Wright if he were not using the same arguments Rainey made during his campaign. Wright replied by putting me in the same category with that great man "was greeted with boos and whistles."

The 50th legislature today faced a simple but stark problem in arithmetic.
It was simple because an easy calculation showed it has spent or is in the process of spending more money than it has. Includes other money bills outside the "must" class. They could bring the shortage up to around $100,000,000.

Gov. Jester's flat reassertion yesterday that he will hold to his promise not to approve tax increases has brought the matter to a new head.
Taxes or Cuts.
There is just one big question for the session to dispose of between this date and final adjournment, perhaps a matter of a few weeks. That is: Will major appropriations be cut, and how much, or will the legislature levy new taxes in a flat challenge to Jester's leadership?

In both the house and the senate there were signs of unrest. There were rumors in the house that Chairman Claude Gilmer of the appropriations committee was ready to resign in protest of the house's obvious spending disposition.
Gas Tax Studied.
The senate lifted the house-passed natural gas tax bill from under the jurisdiction of the state affairs committee, and put it in the hands of the finance committee.

This action came just a few hours after Jester had warned that passage of the $35 per capita bill and the $2,000 minimum annual salary bill for teachers would make it necessary to cut or abandon some pending appropriations. He reminded the legislators that in his first message of the session, he had recommended a doubling of state expenditures but in such manner as to leave the treasury with a balance of $12,000,000 at the end of the next fiscal biennium.

Big Fund Approved.
The same day the governor's statement was issued, the house approved a session bill making the largest appropriation in history for eleemosynary institutions, $23,171,886 for the two year period. It pared about two and one-half million dollars from the senate bill and the senate must now either concur or send the measure to a conference committee.

The C. S. McEllen tax bill to raise $28,000,000 annually was passed by the house and had been stalled in the senate state affairs committee since April 7. Chairman George Moffett had appointed a subcommittee to study revenue needs and report back.

House tax advocates considered the senate action favorable to their cause, although they did not regard the 18 to 8 vote on the question an indicator of how the senate might stand on a tax showdown.
The house late yesterday killed Rep. S. J. Isaacks' bill to adopt a multiple-list textbook adoption system in grade schools. It did this by striking out the enacting clause by a vote of 66 to 60. Isaacks, saying 95 percent of the school teachers in the state favored his bill, asked the house: "Are you going to listen to the educators or to the lobby of schoolbook salesmen?"

Under the present plan, educators form an advisory committee only, recommending textbooks to the state board of education. Rep. William S. Jameson of El Paso called this "the biggest organized racket that this state has ever seen."

Meanwhile, Rep. Frank C. Oltorf of Marlin challenged Gov. Jester's statement that appropriations should be slashed to follow the mandate of the people that there shall be no new taxes.

"The people have given the governor no such mandate," Oltorf said. He added that the people of Falls county, in his district, had voted three to one for Jester but that they were also more than three to one for more taxes on oil gas and sulphur to finance rural roads, education and the "improvement of our agrarian economy."

Prison Bill Favored.
The house committee on penitentiaries favorably reported Rep. Davis Clifton's bill authorizing the state prison board to bid on state printing jobs without posting bond. The attorney general has ruled that such a law is constitutional.

Rep. James C. Spencer's bill aimed at keeping Communists off election ballots in Texas was unanimously approved by the house committee on elections.

The measure, as amended, provides that "no person who advocates the overthrow by force or violence or the change by unconstitutional means of the present constitutional form of government of the United States or of the state shall be eligible to have his name printed on any official ballot in any general, special or primary election in the state."

Absentee Ballot Changed.
Also favorably reported by the elections committee was a bill by Rep. J. K. Ayresworth of Waco to establish a 2-to-12 day period prior to elections for securing and filing of absentee ballots. The present period of time is from 3 to 20 days prior to elections. Sent to the house calendar by favorable vote of the house judiciary committee was Rep. Doyle Willis' bill relating to adoption of minors.

His measure changes or adds to present state adoption laws the following provisions:

1. To permit adult persons, as distinguished from adult residents of Texas, to adopt children.
2. To allow mothers of illegitimate children to consent to their adoption, even though the mother be under 21. Present law requires the mother to be 21 before she may give her consent.
3. To place venue for adoption proceedings in the county where the child-placing institution is located, as well as the district court of the county of residence of the adoptive parent, or of the residence of the adopted child.
4. To allow an adopted child to inherit through, as well as from adoptive parents. This would give adopted children the same status as natural children with regard to inheritance from relatives other than the adoptive parents.

LEWIS

his order to call off a contract termination notice Lewis had served on the government.

The Supreme Court, on March 6, reduced the fine to $700,000 provided the union showed that it had fully complied with Goldsborough's orders.
Sonnett said today the government is satisfied that the union complied with the mandate by withdrawing the contract cancellation notice and by distributing the word of the withdrawal to its members he told the court that coal production has been "about normal" since April 14. Lewis called off the safety stoppage at this time. It was ordered originally on April 1, as a memorial to 111 miners killed in an explosion March 25 at Centralia, Ill. A $10,000 fine which Goldsborough imposed last December on Lewis individually already has been paid and the union promptly offered a certified check today for its $700,000. It also submitted another check for $35,000 representing a one percent poundage charge on the $350,000 in bonds which the union posted as security for the fine. The poundage charge—for keeping the bonds—is required under District of Columbia law.

On the surface at least, the proceeding appeared to wind up the legal sparring in connection with the government's possession of the soft coal mines.

Parents of Son.
Mr. and Mrs. Tracy Smith, Jr. of Odessa, announce the arrival of a son, Stanley Sands, on Saturday, April 19, at the West Texas Hospital, Lubbock.

Grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. William Sands, Chatfield, and Mrs. Tracy Smith, Corsicana.

Mrs. T. Guy Spencer has returned to her home in Oklahoma City after a visit with Mrs. Erwin F. Bohmfalk.

SHORTCUTS TO CHARM

By BETTY CLARKE

AP Newsfeatures Beauty Editor.
Long, short, curly or straight,
the modern woman's hair is clean and pretty. Back in the old days when women wore "rats" and went mad with the marcel waver, hair was just an added nuisance and one had to face tediousness of elaborate hairdressing. Some of the girls, weary of it all, cut their hair off to the scalp and wore wigs which could be sent to the cleaner's.

Today the question isn't: "How are you wearing your hair?" It is more important that the hair should always be neat and clean.
The emphasis is definitely on the hair and not on the coiffure. This is evidenced by the current crop of teen-agers who are neater and smarter than their mothers or grandmothers were—but many of them wear only a shoulder length, straight bob—sometimes with bangs.

And the funny thing about teen-agers is that they enjoy and prefer doing their own hair.
So if Mom's big cry is that she can't get to a beauty parlor, she can take a cut from daughter who pin curls and brushes and brushes and shampoos until her hair gleams.

And even when she has a cold,
she doesn't give up her shampoo.
She'll find a dry shampoo that she can shake out of a box and

GLAMOR LOCKS . . .

With dry shampoo and mit-rub through her hair with a terry cloth mitt and she'll use it on all occasions when she finds it is not advisable to dunk her head in a watery lather.

parsley.

Beets and Onions

Scrape beets and cut them into fairly thick slices. Sandwich a thin slice of raw onion between a split slice of beet, spreading the onion with parsley and chervil.
Sprinkle with grated nutmeg and a little salt. Dip and fully cover

smoke and flames were roaring thousands of feet into the air from the ship and other fires around there. It was terrible.

Amto said the Albatross and three other tugs were unable to free the burning High Flyer from its slip because it was wedged against the SS. Wilson B. Reeves, which had been damaged by the explosion of the French freighter Grandcamp, the first blast of the series.

Relief Efforts Continue.
Capt. E. H. Goodwin, port captain for the U. S. and H. Towing company, owning of the Albatross, had testified earlier that the four tugs kept up attempts to pull the High Flyer away from the burning dock-slides until 10 minutes before it exploded.

Relief efforts for victims of the disaster kept up an unrelenting pace.

A shipment of 2,010 pounds of penicillin to treat the injured arrived yesterday from Kansas City, $50,000 fund sought.

In New Orleans, Mayor DeLoach Morrison said $50,000 was the goal for a $100-a-plate dinner proceeds of which would be donated to the stricken here. Seymour Weiss, manager of the Roosevelt Hotel, contributed its facilities for the affair and General Jonathan Walcott, commander of the Fourth Army, offered an army plane to fly in movie and radio entertainers from Hollywood.

A cargo of 6,000 pounds of clothing, collected by the Volunteers of America in 13 western states, was flown to Houston from Los Angeles yesterday for distribution among persons made destitute by the disaster.

Monsanto To Rebuild.

ST. LOUIS, April 24.—(AP)—Officials of the Monsanto Chemical Corp. announced here yesterday that plans for rebuilding the company's plant at Texas City have been completed.

President William M. Rand said that pending erection of the new plant, Monsanto was trying to find unused wartime styrene facilities which could be operated on a temporary basis.

Some parts of the old plant may be back in production within six months, Rand said.

Federal Aid Pledged.

WASHINGTON, April 24.—(AP)—Housing Expediter Frank R. Crow has pledged full cooperation in the rebuilding of Texas City.

He telegraphed Mayor J. C. Trahan that he had instructed the Dallas regional office to offer any cooperation necessary in the "tremendous reconstruction job which faces you."

"We are ready to authorize extensions to the current regulations covering new residential and non-residential construction if necessary to speed up the rebuilding of your city," the telegram read.

boom in building to get under way.

Some Prices Softer.
Some softening of price of building materials already is reported, as supplies overtake production.

On the other hand, new wage demands have been made by some building trades.

George W. Warnock, New York financial editor, believed that co-operation of industry and labor in an attack on cost factors could effect a 30 percent reduction in the present price for construction.

Six-Month Slump Seen

He anticipates a duration of six months in the current slump in new building. "We're going to lose this building year," he said.

A large investment syndicate reported thousands of newly constructed one and two-family homes standing idle on Long Island in the New York metropolitan area, and added, "this is true everywhere in the United States except the West Coast."

However, apartment projects of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Co., capable of housing 12,400 families in New York are proceeding on schedule and may even be completed ahead of time with full occupancy assured, company representatives said today.

Situation Summed Up.
The National committee on housing, voluntary organization devoted to problems of housing and community planning, in its annual report this week described the situation this way:

"Sales here is showing priced out of the market. The $10,000 or $12,000 house is too expensive for veterans and others of modest means, and too small to suit the family that can afford that price. x x x Builders x x x fear to build rental units at today's costs when those same units may have to compete five years from now with new units built at lower cost."

Aside from the housing field, postponements are reported in a number of industrial construction programs, both large and small. Here the cost factor is not the only one involved—there also is evidence that some industrial programs projected last year are being reviewed in the light of changing economic prospects.

As against forecasts of more than $20,000,000,000 of construction activity this year, here, what the latest report is showing:

During the first two weeks of April construction contracts let in 37 states reporting to F. W. Dodge Corp., fact-finding organization for the industry, fell nearly $90,000,000 short of the total for the same period a year ago. For residential contracts alone the decline was more than $32,500,000.

The sharp reversal of trend was emphasized by the fact that in the first three 1947 months awards established a first-quarter record.

Service Pins For Magnolia Employees

Four former Corsicana residents, long-time employees with the Magnolia Petroleum Co., will be presented with their 30-year service pins at a company dinner Friday night at Fort Worth.

The men, Claude R. Everett, Samuel C. Hopper, Robt. L. Dickson and R. Roy Martin, worked with the Magnolia in the Corsicana area before being transferred to Fort Worth.

How women and girls may get wanted relief from functional periodic pain

Cardui is a liquid medicine which many women say has brought relief from the cramp-like aches and pains of functional periodic distress. Here's how it may help:

1. Taken like a tonic, it should stimulate appetite, digestion, thus help build resistance for the "time" to come.

2. Started 3 days before your time, it should help relieve pains due to purely functional periodic causes.

Try Cardui. It helps, you're glad you did.

L. L. HOTCHKISS
THURSDAY SPEAKER
AT CIVITAN CLUB

L. L. Hotchkiss, executive head of the Circle Ten Council of the Boy Scouts of America, was the featured speaker Thursday at the luncheon meeting of the Civitan Club in the Navarro Hotel.

A number of men active in scouting in the Navarro district were guests of the club. Hotchkiss was brought to the Civitan meeting by Herman Roberts and N. Suttle Roberts, who comprised the program committee for the meeting.

The Circle Ten executive mentioned the subversive elements which, he said, are creeping into the educational institutions of the country, giving our youth a biased viewpoint on the capitalist system, and our way of life. He prescribed as a cure the giving of more time by parents and interested adults toward helping young people in their problems and activities.

He pointed out that scouting is not a cure-all for juvenile delinquency, but can help to combat it, provided more adults take time and interest to help put the movement over. "The easiest man for a boy to come in contact with is a fellow who always has the time," he reminded the Civitans.

Hotchkiss explained briefly the organization, administration and operation of scouting, and explained the ways that men can do their part in putting over the movement.

Guests present at the luncheon were Randolph Mitchell, Harold Crawford of Dallas, Gaston Gooch, Tom Bailey and J. L. Shanks. W. H. Smith and M. H. Statham were named on the program committee for next week's meeting.

appointment" that there was no agreement on Austria or on the American-proposed four-power pact covering Germany, but he added that the results of the conference still were to be evaluated.

U. S. "Expects Too Much."
"I think we must regard this council's meeting as the first round and realize that the matters discussed here are of big concern and of worldwide interest."

Marshall said that perhaps the Americans expected more progress than they had the right to expect. Marshall was reported to be planning a formal radio report to the American people concerning the meeting as soon as he returns home. His speech, informants said, probably would review his policies here, assess the failures and the few accomplishments listed and outline the course for the future, particularly as it concerns U. S. Soviet relations.

Worst Deadlock Yet.
The conference, longest yet held by the ministers, ended in the worst deadlock among the major allies since the end of the war.

Most veteran diplomats express belief that the Moscow meeting has been even less fruitful than the London meeting of September, 1945, when the foreign ministers tied themselves in knots in the opening phase of negotiations on treaties with Germany's satellites.

Moreover the issues debated at Moscow—Germany, the proposed four-power pact and to a lesser extent, Austria—are much more vital than any involved in the satellite treaties and the cleavages between the East and West are greater.

Little Progress Made.
Few of the Western delegations expected much progress, particularly on Germany, during the present meeting.

But they got less than their modest hopes.

They did not expect Russia to rip the American-proposed 40-year de-mandation pact for Germany to shreds, and they did have some hope of agreement on the comparatively lesser issues in the Austrian treaty.

A few of the more optimistic diplomats feel that something has been gained by "bringing the issues into the open."

Issues "In Open."
But it is pointed out by the majority that most of the issues have been in the open for months, either in Berlin or in previous four-power meetings, and now the powers have solidified the issues with outspoken demands or iron stands against these demands.

Previously the positions of all parties were somewhat vague and capable of reconciliation without concern for face-saving. Now any settlement can only be reached through a decisive retreat by one power or another.

One Development Seen.
One concrete development diplomatically has come out of the conference. That is a closer bond of France with the Western Allies.

Despite every effort by French Foreign Minister Georges Bidault, Soviet diplomacy on Germany forced the French to throw in with the Western powers on major issues in order to protect fundamental French security.

Briefly, Russia stood as she has since the time of Lenin for a strong centralized, industrialized Germany, a condition which the French fear most.

More Funds Asked For Texas Forest Research Projects

WASHINGTON, April 24.—(AP)—Rep. Pickett (D-Texas) has asked for $20,000 in additional funds for forestry research in East Texas. He asked a house appropriations subcommittee to grant the additional funds to the Nacogdoches forestry station and declared it would greatly increase the center's value to owners of timber there and in Louisiana. An original appropriation of $30,000 was proposed for the station. Pickett told a reporter that the additional appropriation would provide:

1. A study of bottomland timber cutting operations;
2. Forest grazing research;
3. Construction of additional roads and shops in the Stephen F. Austin experimental forest in East Texas.

Sum Said Small. While this supplemental sum is small and would permit only a limited amount of work, it would initiate research which could be expanded later, he said. Research is now devoted chiefly to loblolly pine and reforestation. Pickett told the committee there are 10,500,000 acres of forest lands in East Texas, 82 percent in upland pine and hardwoods and 18 percent in bottomlands hardwoods. There are at least 750,000 cattle throughout the territory and grazing study would be devoted to determining how maximum use of forage could be gained without damage to tree reproduction, he added.

Discussing the bottomlands research proposal, Pickett said in a statement presented to the committee:

"The importance of this project is greater than generally appreciated. Much Forest Involved. "It involves 18 percent of the total forest area of East Texas, nearly 50 percent of the remaining volume of old growth timber, and about 36 percent of the total volume of sawlog sawing stock. "This hardwood provides the raw material for the production in East Texas of such items as flooring, furniture, truck bodies, baskets and fuel wood. "But in spite of their importance, bottomland hardwood forests have received little attention so far as the study of management methods are concerned. "The important forest range problems have been pointed out in a regional analysis, but limited

HIGH SCHOOL TIGER BAND TO TAKE PART IN MUSIC FESTIVAL

The Corsicana High School Tiger band will leave early Friday morning for Dallas to take part in the Highland Park Music Festival, it was announced today. Three buses will transport the unit to Dallas under sponsorship of the Band Parents Association. The buses will leave at 8:30 a. m. In the morning there will be a clinic for woodwinds, and brasses to begin at 9 a. m. and at 1:25 p. m. the entire band will play two overtures and will be judged by a noted musician.

Friday night at the school stadium there will be a marching pageant and queens representing the various musical groups will be presented. Miss Marianne Long, whose escort will be Paul Curington, was chosen by the Tiger Band to represent Corsicana High school as queen. Isaac Levy and Harold Harkins have been chosen to play in a massed band concert to be presented at McFarlin Auditorium at 8 p. m. Saturday.

Scientists Moaning Low About Mauna Loa — She's Due to Blow Top Again

COME-UPPANCE: Mauna Loa erupting in 1940.

By DOUGLAS LOVEPLACE
AT SALT LAKE CITY, Utah.

HILA, Hawaii. Surrounded by tropical jungles in the heart of the island of Hawaii, two scientists are watching the fitful slumber of two restless giants.

These titans may awake at any moment and ravage the countryside for the 63rd time in the century and a half since western man became acquainted with them. Both are volcanoes, one Mauna Loa, 13,680 feet high, the other her fiery little sister, Kilauea.

Rumbling Below.

Volcanologist R. L. Finch and Geologist Howard A. Powers of Hawaii national park maintain constant check on the volcanic pulses with seismograph and chart. To the scientists, nature always warns when the boiling rock below builds up sufficient pressure to break out.

The first sign is earthquake. A series of rumbles starting 30 to 40 miles beneath, gradually ascends to the surface. The second is tilt. A swelling of the volcano mass raises the elevation and increases the slope. Imperceptible to the human senses, these changes are measured by instrument.

Mauna Loa, which last erupted in 1942, is overdue for another performance. Kilauea's pressure collapsed in 1924 after almost a century of recorded activity. Scientists are puzzled, but they still classify it as an active volcano.

Quiet Period.

"Mauna Loa's periods of quiescence range from one to nine years, with an eruption on the average of every three and one-half years," said Finch. "Since it has been almost five years since the last eruption, the probability of an eruption is increasing."

"The earthquake pattern recently has been evident under Mauna Loa, but the tilt pattern has been absent except for occasional brief spurts," Finch said.

The nearest city to the big mountain is Hilo, seaport capital of the island, about 25 miles distant. Once lava reached Hilo's outskirts.

Sunset Link.

Finch and Powers have their laboratory in the crater-pocked jungle 4,000 feet higher than Hilo. There they are trying to figure possible links between the behavior of volcanoes, ocean storms and sunspots. "There appears to be a wisp of relationship," said Finch. Within a few centuries scientists believe, the lava mass of Mauna Loa will be so built up that it will seal this weak spot in the earth's crust. Then the interior pressure will have to seek a new outlet. Explosions will occur elsewhere, possibly near Mauna Loa's base, and new craters will appear. From them will issue lava to build up new cones. It was thus that Mauna Loa and Kilauea were formed when Mauna Kea, a now-extinct volcano which is 10 miles in diameter at its undersea base, sealed its fissures.

From where I sit... by Joe Marsh

"As Homelike As a Barn"

Cy Hartman finally got his new barn painted, but plenty of folks had a hand in it. Whenever someone got a free day, or a little extra time, they'd come over and help out with paint and brush.

And Cy, to show his appreciation, held a big "barn warming" Saturday—for all the folks who'd helped him (but not harring those who couldn't). Ma Hartman supplied sandwiches, and Cy rolled out a mellow keg of beer.

You'd never think of a barn as "homelike." But with those lanterns hanging from the rafters; make-shift tables spread heavy with food; and Ed Carey's fiddle playing while the folks enjoyed their beer—Cy's barn was sure a mighty hospitable-looking place!

From where I sit, it's just about as appropriate to have a barn warming as a housewarming... if only because it's another chance to get neighbors together in a spirit of good fellowship.

Get B. F. Goodrich Silvertowns that OUTWEAR PREWAR TIRES

The new B.F. Goodrich tire has a wider, flatter tread that puts more rubber where it counts... on the road. More rubber there means more to share the wear... less wear at any one point... better mileage... greater safety all the way.

More rubber also means more grip... more safety from skidding... better stopping.

This buskier tread is held by a sturdier cord body made with stronger cords and more of them to give more protection against blow-outs and greater resistance to road shock.

It all adds up to better service longer. Remember price is only what you pay; cost is measured in length of service. That's why the new Silvertown is best in the long run.

You pay only regular prices for the extra value features of the new B.F. Goodrich Silvertown that actually costs you less per mile.

SAM G. SIKES, JR., FUNERAL SERVICES THURSDAY AT 3 P. M.

Funeral services for Sam George Sikes, Jr., 22, who was fatally injured in an oil field accident Tuesday, were held at 3 p. m. Thursday from the Corley Funeral Home chapel with interment in Oakwood cemetery.

The rites were conducted by the Rev. Jack Goff, pastor of the North Side Baptist church. Sikes, a veteran of World War II, saw overseas service in the Pacific theater. His death came as a result of a fall from a broken gin pole on the Walton farm, four miles north of Corsicana.

Surviving are his parents, Mr. and Mrs. S. G. Sikes, Sr., route 4; a sister, Miss Edith Sikes; and three brothers, Elvis, Donald, and Leslie Sikes, all of Corsicana. Pallbearers were E. M. Howell, George Webb, Woodrow Wilson, Robert Robinson, Jr., T. G. Dillard, and A. W. Ray.

Dresden Cemetery Meeting

The annual meeting of the Dresden Cemetery Association will be held the first Friday in May, the same being the 2nd day of May. We urge everyone to make plans now to attend.

This association had its beginning some 60 years ago and is better known as "The First Friday in May."

The memorial address will be delivered by the Hon. Tom L. Tyson of Corsicana, at 11:30 a. m., after which we will have an old-time dinner on the ground, so everyone who can, bring a well-filled lunch basket.

In the afternoon the business meeting will take place to elect officers for the next 12 months, and to attend to any other business that might come before the association.

The former Miss Calyce Highnote, she was reared in Corsicana, moving to Childress after her marriage.

Surviving are her husband, Lee Rushing, Childress; five sisters, Mrs. W. T. McKee, Mrs. H. H. Pugh, and Mrs. J. H. Lynd, all of Corsicana; Mrs. T. J. Pugh, Beaumont; and Mrs. O. W. Wells, San Antonio; and two brothers, Charles Highnote and Eugene Highnote, both of Corsicana.

TRAVELING X-RAY UNIT SCHEDULED AT STATE HOME FRIDAY

A traveling X-ray unit, under the direction of Dr. Howard E. Smith, director of the tuberculosis division of the state health department, will be at the State Orphans Home all day Friday, April 25. Superintendent M. L. Kelly has announced.

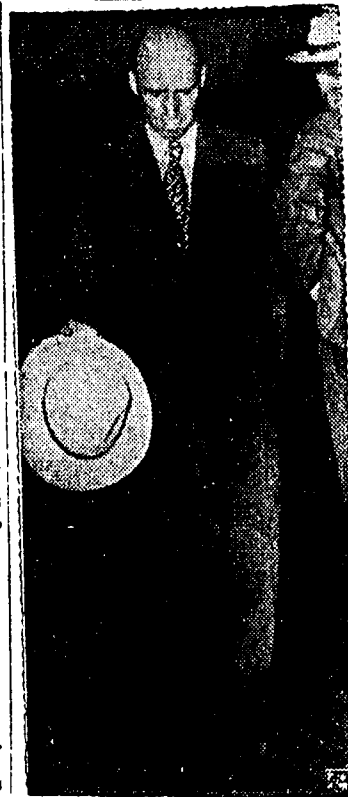

Chest X-rays of approximately 500 people, including personnel and the student body of the Home, will be made in order to determine susceptibility to tuberculosis. The project is being sponsored by the state board of control, and all people connected with state institutions are to be given the service, Kelly said.

FBI INTERESTED IN TRUCK THEFT; 2 MEN INVOLVED

The Federal Bureau of Investigation has stepped into the case involving two Corsicana men held in connection with the theft of a truck at Fort Worth Monday.

Sheriff David Castles stated Thursday that an agent of the FBI was in his office Wednesday investigating a 1941 Ford in which the two men were arrested Tuesday in Marlin by officers in that city.

One of the men, an ex-soldier who saw service in the Pacific theater, is being held in connection with the stripping and selling of wheels and tires from the truck. He recently pleaded guilty to a charge of larceny of a Corsicana filling station and was given a two to five-year suspended sentence.

The federal authorities are stepping into the case of the other man, who, Sheriff Castles said, also has a five-year suspended sentence for car theft in McLennan county.

According to the sheriff, the man enlisted in the Marine Corps and then went AWOL, stealing a car and was apprehended in Waco, where he was sentenced.

Upon his return to the Corps, Sheriff Castles stated, the man stated to him that he was court-martialed and served two of four years in disciplinary barracks, and after a probation period, resumed service in the Corps.

Sheriff Castles stated the man was AWOL from the Marine Corps at the present time. The car in which the men came to Corsicana is believed to be one stolen earlier

HOMING PIGEON IN EMERGENCY LANDING AT MILDRED TUESDAY

Somewhere a pigeon fancier is waiting with a watch by his bird roost, confident of a record, but he failed to reckon with his racer.

Tuesday afternoon a gray racing pigeon circled and made a landing at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Lee Buck at Mildred. He was a tired bird.

Mrs. Buck fed the bird and waited for him to fly off, but the pigeon apparently liked it there. He took to following Mr. and Mrs. Buck around the yard.

A homing pigeon had found a new home. Thursday at noon the perplexed

Bucks brought the pigeon to the Sun office. They were told that racer pigeons were sent over the country by sportmen and released to fly home. The bird had just been tired, was the conclusion. Mrs. Buck set the pigeon on a ledge and Mr. Buck waived his arms and said, "Come on and fly." For the first time in two days the pigeon took to wings, circled around the business district of the city, then set his course.

Last seen he was heading for Mildred.

CORSICANA, TEX., APR. 25, 1947
ENGLAND AND RUSSIA

The "old World" with the exception of Russia seems to be almost literally worn out, and this is a fact which has to be accepted, though rather broadly, in any consideration of Europe. It may rise again sooner or later, under the stress of strong men and new conditions, but there doesn't seem to be much reason for such expectation so far as the near future is concerned.

Russia, it must be realized, is not Europe. And broadly speaking, it has not yet had its chance in the world to reach its full stature and enter upon the opportunities which, to all appearances, it seems destined to possess.

Is Russia then to take the place of England? Possibly so, in a way. But can big Russia ever be so great as little England has been in the centuries now waning? It must take a long time to achieve any such transformation. And we may well doubt whether Russia can ever become so great, with all her vast bulk and material power, as little England was in the period from Shakespeare down to recent years.

Such comparisons are difficult, however. Russia's musicians compare favorably with Britain's poets. And when it comes to heroic deeds, the long holding out of Leningrad, the defense of Stalingrad stand well with England's 1940.

What makes the comparison even harder is that England is our old friend, and Russia makes herself so difficult to understand.

A NEW LEDICE

Czech was the mother's tongue. Her daughter, seven, spoke only German and was frightened at the insistent parental embraces. They met at a railroad station in Prague. The girl, with 30 other children, had come from an international children's camp in Bavaria. The bewildered child went off with her mother to live in a suburb near Lidice, not far from where she had been torn from her mother's arms almost five years before. Her father was shot after the village was obliterated. German conquerors were retaliation for the assassination of Nazi-Hangman Heydrich.

Soon new houses will be built on the barren Lidice, one where the little girl who can speak no Czech will live with her mother who thanks God she never had to learn German. The adjustment may be difficult. This particular reunion, authenticated by a birthmark on the child, is a symbol of a better day, though a grim one, for Lidice's survivors.

Slowly, gropingly, the world is rebuilding from war savagery. It is to be a struggle, with hazzards that haunting memory brings. But it is struggle with hope in it, and maybe even joy once more for people like the mother and the little girl.

HOW ITALY DOES IT

The offices in the new Italian ministry show how much greater a part the government plays in national affairs abroad than in the United States. The Italian cabinet, whose make-up is typical of most European countries, has 15 posts to our 10. One is held by the premier, the head of the government. The Ministry of Foreign Affairs and the Ministry of Finance and Treasury Departments, respectively. The Justice Ministry corresponds to our attorney-generalship, and National

MARBLE TIME

Wonder where the agates are
That I treasured years ago?
Some like opals with a star,
Others with a cherry glow.
Wonder are the boys today
Proud and glad as I was then,
As I watch them at their play,
Now it's marble time again?

As I passed some youngsters by,
On their knees, a ring about
No fair fudging!" came a cry,
Phrase I loudly used to shout.
Something deep inside of me
Took me from the world of men.
Boy once more I seemed to be,
Spring—and marble time again!

Set my finger and my thumb
Round an agate as of old,
Felt the long-passed yearning
Come.

For the skill I once controlled,
"No fair fudging!" did I cry?
Is it fancy that I pen?
Do such memories never die?
Now it's marble time again.

Defense to our War and Navy departments combined. Both countries have departments of the Interior, Agriculture, Labor and Commerce (in Italy called Industry and Commerce.) The Italian Ministry of Posts and Telegraph adds to the work of the Post Office Department supervision of the government-owned telegraph and telephone.

Novel to American ears are the Ministries of Public Instruction, Public Works, Transport, Foreign Trade and Mercantile Marine. Other European countries have a ministry of Health. This post and a department of education have often been suggested for the United States, which now divide their duties among other departments.

The Italian scheme provides for government-owned railroads and shipping. In some other respects, their arrangement seems more practical than ours. Some day our executive department should be overhauled, with English and European experience taken into consideration. But let's see how their new methods work before we adopt any of them.

WHY SENATORS ACT SO

If you were a castaway with several other shipwrecked passengers whom you had no hand in selecting, and all were in the same boat trying to make shore, you would try to be very polite to your associates, even when they were most distasteful.

The senate is something like that. Seldom has any senator been able to select any other senator, even his colleague. Then, the rule of unanimous consent is employed in many cases. A senator whose ill-will has been aroused can block an associate's pet project. Rightly or wrongly, senators feel that they will get along better in the long run if they treat one another with every consideration, even if the public welfare suffers in the process.

This is why senators have restrained their disgust with Senator McKellar's conduct during the recent Lillenthal hearings. That is why they are loath to close time-wasting debate forcibly. The day might come when they themselves would wish to kill an obnoxious bill by hours of irrelevant talk. The senate is fundamentally a club, and its members stick together on that basis.

Of course, voters, sometimes, instead of thinking of the Senate as a club, would like to take a club to the Senate.

WHO IS TO BLAME

Don't pity the teachers. They can take care of themselves. About 600,000 already have done so in the last seven years; they have taken better jobs. This report comes from Joseph T. Landis, president of the American Federation of Teachers, who has been touring the country to learn conditions.

The remedies? Better pay, of course. Also abandonment of the restrictions on teachers' social life. When teachers keep on leaving a community, it is apt to be the community's own fault?

Keep an eye on the boys. Two seventeen year old lads in Evansville, Ind., have been given life sentences on a charge of slaying two policemen. What are parents doing while such boys are growing up? Children aren't born bad.

DEAD END

DEWEY AND WHITMAN

"From prosecutor to president," Gov. Thomas E. Dewey of New York would like to sum up his career in these words. Another New York governor has just died who had the same hope.

Charles S. Whitman, while district attorney of New York City, made his fame by sending a group of gangsters and crooked policemen, headed by Lieut. Chas. Becker, to the electric chair. Popular enthusiasm made him governor in 1914, and re-elected him two years later.

The Republican presidential nomination in 1920 was open. A third victory for Whitman in 1918 would probably make it certain. So he ran again, and by a narrow margin became the first New York Republican to meet disaster from the popularity of Al Smith. If his defeat cost him the presidential nomination, the country suffered by it, for the prize went to the far less equipped Warren G. Harding.

Dewey passed the governorship hurdle with his reelection last fall. Remembering Whitman, he may be glad he does not have to run three times before the presidential choice is made.

RARE HOBBY

A really unusual hobby was recently in a college alumni magazine, regarding Richard P. Bissell, a Dubuque, Ia., business man. His hobby is piloting river boats. He holds a pilot's license on the Monongahela Upper Mississippi and other navigable streams. He has even worked the whole length of the Mississippi on a sternwheeler which tows 15,000 tons of coal at a time.

A pilot's license is just as hard to get today as it was in Mark Twain's time. The candidate has to draw from memory the entire length of the river, with all navigation hazards, bars, islands, lights, bridge clearances, etc., included. The examination takes several days. Finally the applicant must be vouchered for by several licensed pilots.

Having won this hard earned license, Bissell uses it occasionally by filling in for a day or so on boats passing by Dubuque.

Can anyone match this hobby for rarity of interest?

A Greek correspondent says his people now have a king who measures up to royal size. We Americans never did put much faith in kings, but we'll give young Paul a chance. He'd better be good, though! We're watching him.

Lower prices, to many sellers, mean only one thing: lower profits. They overlook the fact that lower prices may mean more and longer continuing profits.

NAVARRO COLLEGE BULLDOGS TO SEND LARGE DELEGATION STATE JUNIOR CONFERENCE AT PARIS

Gounod's "Faust" Will Be Presented By College Group

The complete grand opera, Gounod's "Faust," will be presented in the high school auditorium on the night of May 7 by the School of Music of North Texas State College. The school will bring a complete orchestra of 26 pieces and the cast will include 36 with complete costumes, scenery, lights, etc.

The opera will be presented under the auspices of the Corsicana Rotary Club which is taking the responsibility for handling the details incident to the coming of this operatic group. This is probably the first time that a complete grand opera has been brought to this city. It will be sung in English.

Tickets will be made available by the local Rotary Club and may be purchased for one dollar each including tax. There will be no reserve seats. When the maximum number of tickets has been sold ticket sales will be brought to a close.

The School of Music of North Texas State College is one of the outstanding musical groups in the entire nation. Under the leadership of Dr. Bain these students are trained to a very high level of perfection. Some other groups have been presented in Corsicana from time to time.

REV. DAN SHARPLEY PLANNING TO ENTER MISSIONARY FIELD

The Rev. Dan Sharpley, pastor of the First Baptist church, announced Sunday his desire to return to Brazil as a missionary. A naval officer in World War II, the Rev. Sharpley, entered the ministry after his separation from service and expects to complete his studies at the Southwestern Baptist Theological Seminary in Fort Worth this Spring.

Pastor of the Emphouse church since November, 1945, the Rev. Sharpley told his congregation that he and his wife, who holds a masters degree from the Fort Worth school, will make application for appointment to the Foreign Mission Board of the Southern Baptist Convention in April, 1948.

The Rev. Sharpley spent more than three years in Brazil while in naval service. He plans to continue his work in Emphouse, until the applications are approved and final preparations for departure are completed.

At the Sunday morning services of the church, Miss Hilda Rose Seely, Emphouse student in Mary Hardin-Baylor college, Belton, also announced her decision to accept Baptist missionary work after completion of her educational training.

Must Return Approvals. Navarro county farmers who still have prior approval for 1947 practices must return them to the local ACA office to avoid being placed on the federal debt register for twice the amount of the purchase order. Administrator Cline

Six Local Veterans Get Surplus Watches

GRAND PRAIRIE, April 24.—(Spt.) Six Corsicana veterans announced that they were listed today by Vernon Graalman, chief of the War Administration's Veterans' division in the Grand Prairie regional office among some 300 Texas veterans sharing in awards of navigational type wrist watches. The WAA offering was made exclusively to veterans as an item on the regional set-aside list and attracted more than 2,000 offers to purchase. No certificates were required, and order of purchasing was determined by time and date of postmark.

Aaron W. Bule, 207 South Beatson; Howard H. Denbow, 6197 South 16th street; J. B. Towns, Jr., Corsicana; Ernest J. Byrd, Box 4, Kerens; F. E. McGovern, Box 87, Kerens; and James D. Ragdale, Box 65, Barry, were the local veterans notified that they had shared in the awards of one of the 15 jewel, waterproof, shockproof, and magnetic proof watches with unbreakable crystals made by outstanding watch manufacturers and sold by WAA to the veterans at $14 each.

Young said Wednesday. This particularly applies to those who did not have their approvals in by the April 15 deadline, Young said.

CARD OF THANKS
We wish to express our thanks to every one who was so kind and thoughtful during the long illness and death of our mother, Mrs. Ida Dixon. Especially do we thank Dr. Barnabee and the ladies who cared for her.
To those who prepared the food and to those who gave the beautiful flowers, and to the ministers, Revs. Stewart and Dan Sharpley, may God bless you and may you have just such friends when sorrow comes your way.
HER CHILDREN.

Dean Kyle Making Contributions To Guatemala Farms

Corsicana friends of Edwin C. Kyle, former dean of Texas A. and M. College, and now U. S. ambassador to Guatemala, will be interested in knowing that he has been designated "a good neighbor in action" according to a recent Associated Press article by Douglas Mearns.

Excerpts from the article reveal that Ambassador Kyle is using his great knowledge of agriculture to aid the two and one-half million Mayan Indians as well as the half million people of other races who comprise Guatemala's population. His heart, experience and energies, and the resources of his country were immediately directed to the rich soil, 60 inches of rainfall, planting seed and farming equipment, erosion and other factors that affect Guatemala and its citizenship.

Carlos Dorion, native Guatemalan, and one of the wealthiest men in the republic, said, "Dean Kyle is doing more to improve the conditions of Guatemala than all the other ambassadors have done in a hundred years." Since Guatemala's chief exports are coffee, bananas, and chicle, Dean Kyle is at a loss to understand why better trade relations cannot be established between the United States and the diminutive republic. Certainly there can be no conflict in the products of the two nations, because there is no difference in money exchange. One quetzal is worth one dollar. Guatemala needs many things produced in the United States and the United States is already buying most of the export products of Guatemala, the Mearns article pointed out.

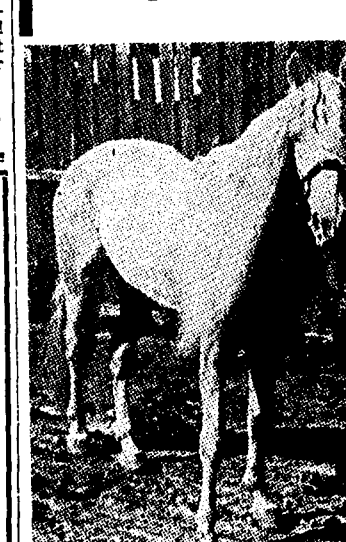

WILDCAT TEST IS DRILLING BELOW 2300 FOOT LEVEL

The J. L. Collins and Company wildcat test on the Barnett tract in the B. C. Balthorse survey was reported past 2300 feet Wednesday with drilling in shale is the site of the test, which is on the Travis Peak strata, is to the old Bazette fault, which in former years was a heavy producer.

The 6000 foot test will mark the second deep exploration in Navarro county in a year. Limited production was obtained in the Rodessa section at a site just south of Richland.

The next meeting of the Oak Valley-White's Chapel Circle of the Hamilton-Deeman Cemetery Association will be held at the home of Mrs. Gene Nutt on May 13, according to recent announcement.

COUNTY OFFICERS HOLDING TWO MEN FOR TRUCK THEFT

County officers are holding two local men Wednesday in connection with the theft of a truck in Fort Worth, returning them from Marlin Tuesday after their arrest there.

One of the men was recently given a suspended sentence on a burglary charge in district court after entering a plea of guilty before Judge A. P. Mays.

Sheriff David Castles and W. D. Thadford, city police desk sergeant, took custody of the two men in Marlin. Officers in that city made the arrest after their suspicions were aroused.

The truck was abandoned on the old Powell road and was stripped of wheels and tires. Sheriff Castles said three tires and wheels were recovered in Marlin and two tires and wheels in Groesbeck.

"We just took it upon ourselves to do something about the high price level that is slowly strangling business. If business—especially the middlemen—don't combine to war on these prices now they'll take it on the chin later, along with everyone else."

President Truman wired his commendation to the retail merchants of Newburyport as the drive to smash the props under high prices appeared spreading across the country.

The Corsicana High school band, under the direction of Herbert Lewis Hill, will provide special music for the third general session of the Twelfth District PTA conference at Corsicana High school auditorium on Thursday evening, May 1, according to announcement by the program committee.

Solomon Devoted Great Abilities to Wrong Ends -- Put Pride Before God and Human Welfare -- His Tolerance Became a Vice -- Selfish Policies Brought Spiritual Slump

By WILLIAM T. ELLIS and EARL L. DOUGLASS

The reign of King Solomon marked the apex of Jewish history. No other name among the Hebrews has continued to shine with such widespread lustre as has that of Solomon. The books of magic current in the East are attributed to him. Folk tales without end are based upon legends about him. Excavators in recent years have unearthed Solomon's immense stables at Megiddo and his copper-smelting works at Ezion Geber, which is at the head of the Gulf of Akaba. The mummy of Shishak, father of Solomon's Egyptian princess wife, was found in Egypt; and Gezer, the city that Shishak gave his daughter as a dowry, has of late years been excavated, with many corroborative finds.

Solomon was a builder, a consolidator, a harmonizer and an inspirer, a statesman, a judge, a learner, an author, and a commercial and political imperialist, who gave little Israel not only enlarged boundaries, but also a name among the nations. Before he died the borders of his country extended from the Euphrates to the Red Sea. Jesus bore witness to Solomon's superlative magnificence when He said of flowers of the field, "Even Solomon in all his glory, was not arrayed like one of these."

A Good Beginning
Solomon began his reign under commendable and inspiring circumstances. He went to Gibeon to be crowned, and there in a dream God appeared to him and said, "Ask what I shall give thee." Solomon showed his greatness by putting himself in the hands of God at the beginning of his reign. We see in this wise act of the young king how necessary it is that we consign our lives into the hands of God at the beginning of every day, every year, ever, enterprise. God in his providence sets our destiny, but we stand at the helm and signify the direction our lives are to take. God gives us the ocean to sail on and the ship to sail in and the winds to sail by; but He leaves to us the matter of our direction.

Solomon asked for an understanding heart--not just an understanding mind so that he might comprehend facts, but an understanding heart so that he could deal with people. Many a man with a head full of book knowledge is a dull failure because he knows only what is within the covers of a book and nothing at all about the impulses, loves, passions, and aspirations which move the hearts of his fellows.

We can always tell the people with understanding hearts. They have what it takes to make friends and influence people. Sometimes they are too understanding and sometimes undistinguished, but always at the end of their lives everyone praises them because they loved their fellows and understood them amid their trials and sorrows.

Importance of Choice
Solomon's career depended upon a great choice, and he made his choice with superb wisdom. To this hour choice remains the supreme factor in our education. Our schools are undergoing intense and widespread analysis these days, but the element which lies beyond the powers of teachers and curricula rests within the minds of the students and the choices they make. Solomon's privilege of election comes to everybody. It is the birthmark of Royal Sonship. John Oxenham has put the idea into verse:

"Oft, as he jogs along the winding way,
Occasion comes for Every Man to say,
"This road?"--or "That?" And as he chooses then So shall his journey end in Night or Day."

Solomon became a great man of letters, the outstanding scientist of his day, and a monarch whose court dazzled in unbelievable brilliance. But adulation turned the king's head. Pride came to mean more to him than principle. He became an Oriental despot, harnessing the masses and driving them with goads to feed his foolish vanity. The freedom-loving Hebrews endured Solomon's tyranny with grumbling. Their resentment burst into flames of revolution during the reign of Solomon's son.

The Alien Heart
Solomon was a despotic tyrant, and nothing but his intellectual brilliance, the power of his standing army, and the glory of his court which awed his own people as well as the world, saved him from heavy punishment for his misdeeds. But the son and the son's son unto remote generations were to suffer for the vanity of this king who put personal glory before public gain.

Solomon married many wives and took over their heathen religions so that the land was filled with idols. He believed in the merging of religions. In these modern times Solomon would have served as an eloquent member of that group of intellectuals who go up and down the land proclaiming that all religions are good and that tolerance is the supreme virtue--a mood that cuts into the very tails of all sound religion.

Solomon disregarded his single loyalty to Jehovah, became an oppressor of his own people, and demonstrated that we cannot play fast and loose with God without showing the effect of this disloyalty in social relations.

SEVEN SENTENCE SERMONS
(Trust takes no account of centuries.)

—Wordsworth.
Whatsoever we beg of God, let us also work for it.

—Taylor.
I will not choose what gives me desire,
Because I will not jump with common spirits,
And rank me with the barbaric multitudes.

—Shakespeare.
Much learning shows how little mortals know; much wealth, how little worldlings enjoy.

—Young.
Trust in the Lord with all thy heart,
And lean not upon thine own understanding.

—Proverbs 3:5.
Thus unlamented pass the proud away,
The gaze of fools and pagans of a day;
So perish all, whose breast no'er learned to glow
For other's good, or melt at other's woe.

—Pope.
Every wanton and careless restraint of the will of the subject, whether practiced by a monarch, a nobility, or a popular assembly, is a degree of tyranny.

Cedar Creek WMU Meeting Is Held

The Cedar Creek W. M. U. met at the church on April 21st with eight members and two visitors in attendance. After a song service, Mrs. Tom Martin read the devotional from Romans VI, and the lesson was led by Mrs. R. E. Ingram, who chose Matthew X and XI as background material.

After a short business session, the group was dismissed with prayer by Mrs. Oscar Skinner, and the ladies worked in the yard, hoeing mowing the lawn and planting flowers and shrubs.

The next meeting will be held at the church on May 5th, and visitors will be welcome.

Mr. and Mrs. Williams Back From Convention

Mr. and Mrs. Frank V. Williams returned on Monday morning from Biloxi, Miss., where they attended the 36th annual convention of the Southern Gas Association. Representatives from thirteen states attended and were guests of Buena Vista, Hotel Biloxi, Edgewater Gulf and White House.

Mr. and Mrs. Williams visited Bellingrath Gardens, New Orleans, Natchez, Vicksburg and many other points of interest. They also enjoyed the Wisteria Trail from Marshall to Shreveport, La., and report a splendid trip.

SAM G. SIKES, JR. FUNERAL SERVICES PLANNED THURSDAY

Funeral services for Sam George Sikes, Jr., 22, who was fatally injured Tuesday afternoon when a gin pole he had climbed collapsed, dashing him to the ground, will be held Thursday afternoon at 3 o'clock from the Corley Funeral Home chapel. Burial will be in Oakwood cemetery. The rites will be conducted by Rev. Jack Goff, pastor of the North Side Baptist church.

The accident occurred on the Walton farm four miles north of Corsicana. It was stated where Sikes was working with a crew plugging an abandoned oil well. He was employed by Coffield and Guthrie. A McCammon ambulance rushed Sikes to the Navarro Clinic where he was pronounced dead on arrival.

A veteran of World War II, Sikes served for some time in the Philippines.

Surviving are his parents, Mr. and Mrs. S. G. Sikes, Corsicana, Route 4; a sister, Miss Edith Sikes; three brothers, Elvis, Donald and Leslie Sikes, all of Corsicana.

Pallbearers will be E. M. Howell, George Webb, Woodrow Wilson, Robert Robinson Jr., T. O. Dillard, and A. W. Ray.

Swinnery is night supervisor from 11 p. m. until 7 a. m., and described the youth as suffering from shock, cold, clammy, weak and rapid pulse, rapid shallow respiration—he believed shock caused death. The mother was excited, the nurse said, and then said confusion symptoms were slow deep respiration, temperature, the opposite to that shown by the boy. She said shock could have been caused by the blow of a hatchet.

Believed Child Was Hungry Mrs. Bertha Knotts said she believed the child was hungry and not well-fed, basing her statement on the condition of the skin. She did not notice any blood.

Alice Cleveland, maid at the hospital, delivered the boys clothing to the undertaker and saw them turned over to the police. Under cross-examination she said that Slim visited the defendant in the hospital and said she told a nurse she was afraid for Slim to be in the hospital. She said she personally was not afraid of Slim, but feared he would excite the patient. She denied that he greeted the defendant take the rap. She said Slim was saying he would not have come to the hospital unless the defendant had sent for him and left soon thereafter. She said the defendant was not excited or afraid, the maid denied believing in "voodoo" or "hoodoo."

Describes Wounds Wilburn Calhoun, negro undertaker, described the lacerations and fresh, all over the body of the boy, a broken thumb, and that embalming fluid came out of a cut in the head. A bruise over the right temple was noted. He called Dr. Will Miller, county health officer, and identified a number of photos submitted him, ruled out of evidence by Judge Mays. Calhoun said he did not see the skull was broken. The undertaker said the defendant did not come to his establishment, and detailed his trip in the rain to the residence, knocking at the door, seeing Slim inside, the tardiness of answering the door, seeking to reduce the funeral bill, etc. Calhoun said the defendant seemed afraid of Slim and he and the defendant later talked about the death of the boy.

Alva Taylor, photographer, testified about photos submitted him as being made by him on the request of the police chief. Undertaker Called Doctor Dr. Miller, health officer, testified he was called but could not leave another patient. He said that the treatment given by the nurse was correct under the circumstances and the same he would have given had he been there. He said the undertaker called him and he testified about the numerous scars on the body of the lad. He said a fracture in the head was apparent from his examination. The doctor said that his opinion was that death was caused by "a lack on the head," and then described symptoms of concussion and shock. He said shock could be caused by loss of blood, exposure, torture.

Talked With Defendant Dr. Miller said that he talked with the defendant several times and said his answers were slow and he was easily mixed up. She had hallucinations or manias on two or three occasions. Dr. Miller said, and termed her of low mentality and easily persuaded and influenced. He said he had had experience with patients affected by "hoodoo" and "voodoo" and said it was not uncommon. Dr. Miller said that there have been instances when this practice bordered on hypnotism. He said on two occasions the defendant blamed the death of her son on another, and said apoplexy affected the brain.

The physician talked to the defendant in jail and said she was all right the first time he saw her and was better last week. He said the mother could have been emotionally upset because of fear of consequences for acts. It was possible she was "play-acting" but other physicians were called in for consultations. He termed her sane the first time he saw her as knowing the difference of right and wrong. He also said the fear of another person may have caused upset on the condition of the skin. He said that, and then he explained conditions caused by pregnancy. He said it was abnormal for a mother to inflict such wounds. He testified the body indicated malnutrition and emaciation.

Police Chief Testifies Police Chief Bruce Nutt testified being called, investigations, questioning of witnesses and the defendant, the signing of a statement, her being warned of the use of such a statement, and permission given for searching the house. He said that the sheriff and county attorney picked splinters from the floor and put them in an envelope, after discovering a chair and clothes line and other articles. The attorney introduced and the defendant tied the boy with wire early in the morning, releasing him later to carry water, finding that night he had drunk the syrup, and then he was released, getting the hatchet and waving it over his head, threatening him as the lad sat on the floor, of the hatchet hitting the boy or to go to the hospital. The statement of no one was at home after 1:30 p. m., except she and her children, until after 10 p. m., and "I am responsible for any injury to Jack after 10 p. m." The statement stated.

Wednesday Afternoon. The state paraded many witnesses during the afternoon session after the defendant pleaded innocent when arraigned on the indictment by Chas. T. Banister, county attorney. The jury was completed on the examination of the first prospective juror during the afternoon. Most of the witnesses were given rigid cross-examinations by defense attorneys, and the proceedings frequently were enlivened by objections by opposing counsel. The courtroom again was crowded, and it was necessary for Judge Mays to warn against noise and laughter.

The defense called Joe Duncan, Corsicana; W. B. Reedy, Corsicana; E. J. Scoggin, Purdon, Route 1; J. L. Bonner, Corsicana, Route 4; J. W. Goodwin, Corsicana; J. M. Hargens, Corsicana; Blooming Grove; A. M. Muller, Frost; Knox Ponder, Frost; Tommie Upchurch, Kerens; L. M. Walker, Corsicana; O. G. O'Daniel, Corsicana, and N. M. Hawkins, Corsicana.

Both the state and the defense had exhausted the 15 preliminary challenges allowed.

J. H. Whitlaw, insurance man, said he carried a $100 policy on the lad, detailed conversations with the lad relative to purported beads administered to him by his mother, and said the day before the lad's death, he (the boy) was tied up in the house, and he (Whitlaw) told the defendant to unlock the boy. He quoted the defendant as telling him after the boy's death that he (the boy) had eaten a lot of syrup.

Neighbors testified they gave the lad food and that his mother was embarrassed and ashamed and had threatened to "darn near beat him to death" unless he stopped begging. Ollie Mae Stevenson said the defendant told her the boy had plenty of food.

Evangelist Heard Elder F. M. Thompson, Holiness evangelist, of Marlin, said the mother rented the youngster being given food and had spoken of punishment and of his requesting her to have a physician see the boy. Ethel Mae Dixon said the boy begged for food nearly every day.

and told of a thumb that the lad accused his mother of cutting when he was struck with a stick. She said she heard the boy crying several times. She denied ever keeping company with Slim Reynolds, who resided in the same house with the defendant and her children, but admitted she had taken care of his house, denied knowing him as an ex-man, or being afraid of him. She said she called for Police Chief Bruce Nutt, did not call again when she failed to contact him because her mother was afraid "Slim" would burn her house.

Eyes Swollen. Ella Mae Parish, a neighbor, said that the boy's eyes were swollen, claiming his mother had beaten him, and that later the mother threatened to "darn nigh kill him" if he persisted in begging. She saw the mother whip the child with a stick.

Lulu Elvert said she remonstrated with the mother for her treatment of the child and said the defendant asked her for food. She said she had given a man holler "shut up" a block away where she lived and heard like being struck.

Slam Reynolds, with whom the defendant and her three children lived, was on the witness stand about one hour and 40 minutes and underwent a rigid cross-examination. He outlined the places where he had been employed, when he met the defendant. He admitted that both had living spouses but that they lived together. Judge Mays had advised the witness of his legal right to refuse to answer any question that would incriminate him, but did not exercise that right, answering a barrage of questions.

He said he returned home and found the boy tied with a wire and chain, and he said he released him. He spoke of his actions on the day the boy died and of his return to the house, in bed—that the defendant said he had drunk syrup—that she had given him soda—identified clothing the boy allegedly had worn the morning and those he was wearing that night when he (Slim) returned home, and after a taxi arrived, placed the lad in the convenience to be taken to the hospital. The witness outlined his co-operation with the law enforcement agencies, identified a rope he alleged was used to whip the child, a hatchet, etc.

Admitted Whippings.

Reynolds admitted he whipped the lad three times for failing to bring in wood, and "getting back at me," but denied any brutality. He said he provided food for the family. He said he told him (Reynolds) that other men visited Ethel Marie when he (Slim) was absent, and said he warned her that this must cease if she was to remain in his home.

Under cross-examination, Reynolds said the child born to the defendant after her arrest on the charge of murder, was his he believed, and he was paying $5 per week for its upkeep. He said the defendant's attitude toward her son changed the last week of his life. The witness said that he had seen no one in his home. He admitted cursing the defendant and that she cursed him, but denied threatening to kill her or others.

Denied State Promise. Reynolds testified that County Attorney Banister had told him he might be arrested and tried for the murder, and that he had something to say about an electric chair. He denied the state had promised him immunity. He also denied kicking the boy out of the house.

Carey Elliott, a neighbor, said the mother called a taxicab from her home the night the youth died.

George Moir, taxicab dispatcher, and Wm. P. Watson, cab driver, testified about the call and the taking of the child and the mother to the hospital.

Mrs. P. Watson, registered nurse at the P. and S. Hospital, said the mother had told her when they arrived at the hospital the child had drunk a half gallon of Fever Root syrup. The child was never released to her. Dr. Miller was telephoned. Other nurses relieved her a short time later and she was not present when the child died an hour later. She de-

FINANCIAL AID FOR JUNIOR COLLEGE IS PARTIALLY ASSURED

Navarro Junior college, was partially assured of immediate financial assistance by the House of Representatives Tuesday when H.R. 321 was passed, R. L. Waller, president of the college, said.

Waller and O. L. Albritton, chairman of the board of trustees, returned from Austin late Tuesday after a two day conference with Representatives Jerry Stockard and George O. Nokes Jr. on legislation affecting the school. House Bill 321, sponsored by Rep. Stockard and others, supplements funds of thirty junior colleges accredited by the state. The two college officials also conferred with the legislators on H.R. 321, which provides emergency funds for use of schools organized after the last biennial appropriation. Rep. Nokes and others are sponsoring this measure.

The bill passed Tuesday, appropriates an outright sum of $825,000 for each of the next two fiscal years, but stipulates the funds be disbursed on the $100 per capita for each full time student per scholastic year.

Opponents of the bill sought to have the per capita apportionment reduced by amendment to $75 per student. A full time student is described as one taking 15 semester hours, but doesn't apply to students matriculating under federal statutes.

Sixty Attended A&M Muster Here Monday

Sixty people attended the A&M Muster Monday night for Aggies and their wives at the Corsicana Country Club. No set program was carried out.

An organizational meeting is expected to be held within the near future looking toward the organization of a Former Students of A. and M. College for Navarro county. Such a club was organized here about 20 years ago, but later disbanded.

The Muster is a traditional observance by Texas Aggies of San Jacinto Day when Texas won her Independence.

1. A strong combination of Republicans and Southern Democrats who want to put more teeth in the bill approved by the senate labor committee. For example, Senators Taft (R-Ohio), Ball (R-Minn), described the clothing. The nurse said she did not see any blood or wounds in the head, but noticed the thumb injury. The nurse said the youngster did not show symptoms generally found in concussion or a blow on the head. She said Slim visited the defendant when the defendant was in the hospital, and that a colored maid was present, but objections raised as to what Reynolds may have told the defendant allegedly to take the rap, were sustained by the court.

Byrd (D-Va.) and George (D-Ga.). 2. A middle group whose members would like to keep the bill approximately as it is. Among them Senators Ives (R-N.Y.), Morse (R-Ore.) and Ellender (D-La.).

3. A smaller faction, led by Senators Elbert Thomas (D-Utah), Pepper (D-Fla.) and Murray (D-Mont.), who think the bill goes too far in restricting union activity.

THIRTY-NINE LADS REPORT MONDAY FOR S. O. H. TRAINING

The State Home Inaugurated its spring football training program Monday afternoon when 39 plucky hopefuls, including 13 lettermen from 1946, reported to Coach John Corner at Garitty Field for the first workout.

The Lads went through light drills Monday, profiting them with calisthenics and limbering up exercises. Later in the week they will get down to business, with several contact sessions to enliven the drills.

The Green and White will have the same lesson to learn that a lot of other gridders are learning this spring—how to make the T-formation function. The Lad at tack this fall will be built on the T, but with a backlog of single wing plays to add a change of pace and a varied offense.

There are enough returning lettermen, not to mention the possibilities in the comparatively new squadmen, to make the formation click. Each of the lettermen saw plenty of action last year, and there is enough talent in the remaining 26 members of the squad to assure a battle for the starting berths. There are only two members of the whole squad that have never seen grid service before.

13 Lettermen.
The returning lettermen are Charles Jones, Charles Murdock, Eugene Bryson, Renzo Carpenter, Cleophus Downey, Arthur Herrington, Oliver Milner, Billy Earl Phillips, Prentice Phillips, Marvin Rawls, Lovell Redding, Albert Taber and Jo Dan Wells.

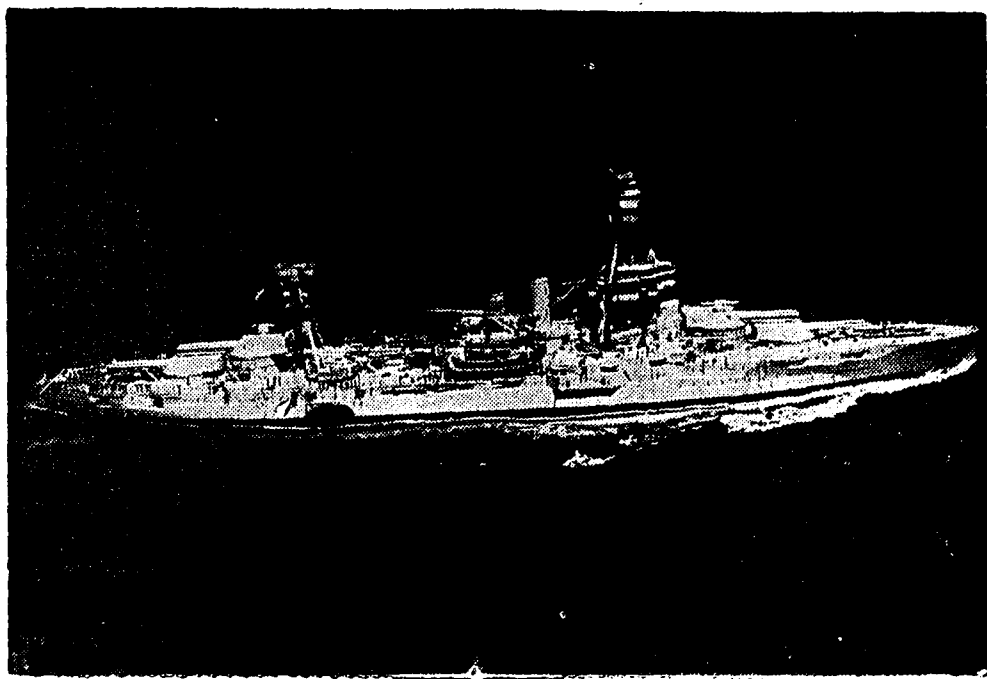

The other squadmen are Ralph Ballentine, Beverly Belschner, Clifford Belschner, W. A. Cannon, Charles Carrington, Virgil Crenay, Lloyd Cross, John Erzan, Tommy Gordon, James Graham, Willie Jenkins, Leon Lambright, Donald Johnson, Edwin Lambright, Eugene May, Oliver Milner, James Murdock, Roger Perona, Waymond Perona, Robert Piliand, Carl Roberts.

Luther Rogers, Roy Taylor, DeWayne Weatherford, J. T. Shipley and Glenn Campbell.

A number of stars will play in the inter-squad game on May 15.

APRIL AMERICAN LEGION CHILD WELFARE MONTH; ORGANIZATION URGES OBSERVANCE OVER NATION

The American Legion has designated the month of April as Child Welfare Month, and is now urging every community to properly emphasize the observance during the month.

The theme of April Child Welfare Month for 1947 is to be "The Whole Child." Posts at units are urged to plan something extra for the children, and to inform the community what The American Legion stands for in child welfare.

Major factors in the "Whole Child" program include emphasis on the home, the church, health and education for the child. Suggested activities include the arrangement of public meetings, joint meetings with other groups, working with institutions, cooperating with teen-agers, hobby shows, contacting public welfare agencies, emphasizing the year-round work of administering to the needs of children, and stimulating interest in the housing program.

Organizers of the observance are urged to sponsor a Go-to-Church-Sunday School Sunday for the whole family, and ask the churches to take an interest in the Legion's Child Welfare Month. The program on child health should include co-operating with medical and dental associations and the public health officers, an interest in the betterment of local health conditions, arranging to have a physician talk on a subject pertaining to child health, provision of special services for handicapped children, co-operating in the survey of the American Academy of Pediatrics on the matter of child health, and studying local health statistics to ascertain any special health needs.

In the field of education, the National Legionnaire suggests that there can be promotion of school attendance, arrangements of tours to local industries to show job opportunities, arranging a vocational guidance clinic in co-operation with other agencies, assisting the schools in counseling and placement services, arranging for the use of visual education material on vocational training.

Every American Legion post and Auxiliary unit are urged to make the observance of April Child Welfare Month a marked success in its own community, according to a recent suggestion in The National Legionnaire.

WARD SCHOOL TRACK MEET SCHEDULED AT HIGH SCHOOL FRIDAY

A track and field meet for the ward school youngsters, who have high school athletes as coaches, is scheduled Friday afternoon at 3 o'clock at the Senior High School grounds, according to an announcement Tuesday. The meet is being sponsored by the Tiger Club under the direction of Garland Matthews, Tiger track coach and assistant football mentor. Three men can enter any event and any youngster can compete in three events if he so desires.

Events are the 50-yard dash, 100-yard dash, 150 (280 yards), relay (280 yards), football shuttle relay (400 yards), high jump, broad jump, football throw, 100-yard low hurdles.

Coaches are June Clark and Danny McLeod, Sam Houston; Hoot Gibson, Jimmie Ward and Jerry Caton, Wm. B. Travis; Jack Rea and Gerald Bowen, Robert E. Lee.

Wm. J. Rochelle, Jr., Decorated By French

William J. Rochelle, Jr., native Corsican, has been decorated by the French government for his part in the defense of a town in Alsace-Lorraine, it was learned here Tuesday.

Rochelle, a captain in the Rain-bow division, has recently returned from the private practice of law in Dallas after serving as regional prosecutor for the federal rent control agency.

He is the nephew of Mrs. Kelly L. McLeod, 633 West Sixth avenue. Rochelle was in the city recently on government business and renewed many acquaintances.

Corsicana's newest singing ensemble, the PTA Mother Singers, will be featured on the Twelfth District conference program on the evening of May 1 at Corsicana High school with Mrs. Viola Short as director and Mrs. W. M. Forester as accompanist.

GARDEN CLUBS OF TEXAS RECEIVE INFORMATION FROM A. & M. ON INSECT CONTROL FOR PLANTS

Recent letters from Paul Gregg, Entomologist, and A. A. Dunlap, head of the Department of Plant Physiology and Pathology at A. and M. College to gardens club of Texas have carried valuable information on insect control in the flower garden and on ornamental shrubs and on new fungicides for the home garden. Included in letters received by the Better Gardens Club of Corsicana have been the helpful hints which are passed on to garden club members of the city.

In his discussion of insect control for flower gardens and ornamental shrubs, Paul Gregg wrote, "When the first warm days come in spring, wintering insects become active. Almost all plants are subject to insect attack and especially many of our ornamentals, shrubbery and flower plants. One of the first insect pests that we find around the house where evergreens are growing is green or metallic blue flies. These flies are attracted to the evergreens by honey dew which is secreted by plant lice or aphids. Even though the flies do not cause any damage to the plants, no one likes to have them around. Thoroughly dusting or spraying the evergreens with 3 percent nicotine sulfate (Black-leaf 40) twice at seven days intervals will destroy the plant lice. By controlling the lice and taking the food away from the flies, this trouble disappears. Spraying or dusting the evergreens with DDT will control the flies, but not the plant lice. By using Sulphur with the DDT the red spider mites, which are tiny, microscopic, whitish green, or red, that feed on the evergreen leaves and twigs and cause them to turn yellow and die. Arborvitae and junipers are badly damaged in dry warm weather.

"White flies are tiny milky white flies that feed on waxy leaf plants and privet hedges. The immature flies are tiny yellow scale-like insects that are fastened on the underside of the leaf. Even though this pest usually does not kill the plant, they cause the plant to have a sooty or black appearance on the leaves. Early treatments in the spring with 3 percent to 5 percent DDT to control snails, sow bugs, ants and other insects that live in or on the soil.

"With the exception of controlling plant lice or aphids, DDT is the best all-around insecticide that can be used on ornamental shrubs and flowers. 3 percent to 5 percent DDT dust is very effective, or spraying with one pound of 50 percent DDT wettable powders to fifty gallons of water is also effective.

In a letter on new fungicides for the home garden, Mr. Dunlap made the following suggestions:

"Scientific research is continuously improving our methods of combating plant diseases. Progress along this line is shown by the new fungicidal chemicals that are being discovered, tested, and placed on the market each year. In most cases, these new compounds are more effective in preventing plant diseases than the old materials. Some of them fill certain, specific needs. Also, they are usually more convenient for the home gardener to use.

"For example, in addition to the well-known seed-treatment materials for vegetable and flower seeds, such as Semesan, Cuprocid, and zinc oxide, the grower can now purchase such new products as Arsan, Chloricene, Dow-9, and Spergon for this purpose. Because of the complex nature of the active ingredients in these materials, it is more convenient to refer to them by their trade names which are the only names used by the dealers.

"Old Materials Still Effective. "Old standard sprays and dusts are still effective for combating the many different foliage diseases of vegetables and ornamentals. Among these may be mentioned Bordeaux mixture, copper lime dust, wettable and dusting sulphur, sulphur-copper dust, and the many kinds of insoluble ("fixed") copper-containing compounds such as Sparycop, Buscop, Copper Hydro, Cupro-K, Copper A Compound, Microgel, and Fungi-Bordo. All of these are inorganic chemicals. During the past few years several new organic fungicides have appeared on the market and they have been found highly effective against many foliage diseases. Phygon and Dithane are two of these new compounds especially recommended for use on the market and they have been found to be very effective against the older material, Thiosan, for control of brown patch of lawn grass. For more or less general use on fruits, vegetables and ornamentals, materials such as Fomate and Zerkate, in addition to the Phygon and Dithane mentioned above, may be used at times for the control of such troubles as leaf spots, blights, downy and powdery mildews, and some rusts.

"In all cases, before purchasing, one should read carefully the label and directions accompanying these proprietary fungicides in order to learn the limitations of the materials as to kinds of plants upon which they may be used.

VETERANS IN PHONE STRIKE NOT TO GET SUBSISTENCE CHECKS

DALLAS, April 22.—(AP)—Veterans taking on-the-job training with the Southwestern Bell Telephone company in 51 North Texas counties, will receive no subsistence checks for the period they are out on strike.

E. M. Cain, regional education officer of the VA, said the move was in line with national VA policy to cut off payments when veterans leave school or training. Cain estimated yesterday that there were 623 veterans affected.

which it may be used. All directions should be followed closely. "Some manufacturers are mixing fungicides and insecticides in a single dust or spray material. As an example, Garden Dust contains two fungicides (Fomate and Zerkate) and two insecticides (DDT and rotenone) and it is recommended for the control of a number of foliage diseases and insects of various plants.

"For treatment of the soil against nematode root-knot, highly effective and relatively new materials have recently been offered for sale under the trade names of D-D, Dowfume, and Jacobrome. These materials are much easier for the grower to handle than the chloropicrin (tear gas) which has been widely used for soil fumigation in the past. Here, again, one should follow directions closely in using these proprietary compounds.

USE IT AS A PICK-UP OR TOW TRUCK

The Universal "Jeep" with its 60-hp "Jeep" Engine and 2- or 4-wheel drive is a versatile farm vehicle that spreads its cost over jobs the year 'round. It serves as a pick-up truck that hauls loads to 1,200 lbs. on or off the road. It tows trailed payloads to 5,000 lbs. at highway speed, with reserve for grades. You speed up work with a vehicle that does almost any farm job!

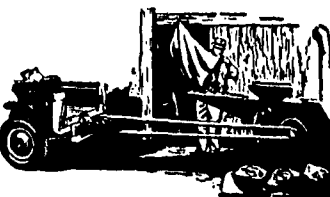

... AS A TRACTOR

In 4-wheel drive, at speeds of 2 to 7 mph, the "Jeep" serves as a light tractor to pull plows, harrows, discs and other implements—pull-type or hydraulic. With power take-off it operates power mowers and sprays.

... FOR BELT WORK

Power take-off on the "Jeep" delivers to 30 hp to operate feed mills, saws, corn shellers and other equipment. No idle seasons for the "Jeep"—you use it every day, all year.
